

Are you going on a cruise any time soon is your ships name the Caroline cruiser well if it is say your sick to your parents the day you have to go or make up another funny excuse do you know why it's HAL-N-T-ED Legend has it that a long time ago a woman a man and a waitress lived in the ship

time a go a woman both the waitress and the woman loved the man the waitress would bring up the most delicious soups with some pink and red paper hearts and the woman would help him down the steep stairs down to the pool and would help him with his sun steep stairs down to the pool and cream they both did separate things to help the man the sadly the waitress and the woman were sisters so if the man married one the other would be a step sister to the man but the man had to choose who he would marry and he chose the waitress they got married and had a child a girl called Bella the woman felt jealous so one night she hurt the man so that he died the woman had special powers that could bring people back to life the waitress was having a baby girl and begged the woman man back but the waitress could only use her powers on one thing so she gave in and the woman kept the girl suddenly a magical bird came and nipped her they both loved each other and they died but they are still looking for somebody to take there place of the Caroline cruiser ghosts to use her powers on the old man she said for a price your new daughter the waitress had powers to transfer things so they both used the powers the baby was now in the woman's tummy but she had lied to her sister she couldn't bring the old